JACKSON CITY ITEMS

Local Happenings About Amador's County Seat

A large dance was given at New York Ranch last Saturday night that was greatly enjoyed by a large crowd from Jackson. More than 70 couples are said to have been present, and the supper and dance netted over $105 in cash. The ranch is located about 6 miles out of Jackson, along the Pine Grove road, and is managed by Wm. Hanley.

Mr and Mrs Ruhser of Jackson left for San Francisco on Wednesday last, and expects to be gone several days. F. W. Ruhser, sr., father of the genial proprietor of Jackson's city drug store, expects to sail for Europe shortly, and it was mainly to see his father off that the popular pharmacist made his flying trip to the city.

Frank Sanguinetti entered upon his duties as city marshal last week, upon the filing and approval of his official bond.

S. Michelotti, a former resident of Jackson has located in Amador, and opened a barber shop.

JACKSON GETS REFORM BOOST

Slot Machines and Faro Tables Vanish—Lid Looks Solid

As an aftermath of the recent city election, all money-paying nickel-in-the-slot machines and bank games of gambling were stopped on Friday last. The taking out of the machines and shutting up the games were the voluntary act of the saloon men, but came as the result of notification that actions would be brought under the state law against the proprietors if the illegal games were persisted in. Jackson has enjoyed the reputation of being a wide-open town. All kinds of games have been running, and the nickel-in-the-slot machines were a feature of the saloons, a rich harvest being reaped thereby. The impression has been general that the saloon interests were organized for the purpose of united action in the late city election, and this has led up to the action taken to suppress gambling. James Mushett who was a candidate for marshal, has figured prominently in the move, which, however, represents the views of a good many others beside himself. Finding that the issue was inevitable, word was passed to those concerned throughout the county, and the slot machines were packed in the store rooms, or turned face to the wall, or taken out entirely, and silence brooded over the tables, where heretofore the gamblers had been wont to congregate. The lid is on effectually for the present anyway. How long the closed season will last is a matter of conjecture. Some contend that it is on for keeps; others think that the agitation will quickly subside, and the reign of chance games return. Naturally the gambling fraternity is mad at thus being put out of business. But whether the changed situation will prove a benefit or otherwise to the general business of this city remains to be seen. The spirit of gambling is strong in a large proportion of the population. Those who worship at the shrine of chance, if they cannot gratify the propensity in one place, will go elsewhere to some point where they can. Or they will gamble in forms that the law cannot reach.

City's Stone Crushing Plant Nearly Finished

The city's new stone crushing plant in course of construction at the Oneita mine, is fast nearing completion. Workmen engaged at the plant report he place will be in working order in from 10 to 14 days. The crusher is a well constructed machine with a capacity of about 60 tons of rock per day. It was built by Knight & Company of Sutter Creek. The bins which received the crushed material have 40 a ton capacity, and are built of 12 by 12 inch timbers mortised and bolted in such a manner as to enable them to be taken apart and reconstructed whenever necessary. The present rock supply is estimated to furnish a run for 2 years. A 15 horse-power gasoline engine will furnish motive power for the crusher. The machinery is set up, 300 feet south of the rock pile, and a large trestle track is built over which a 1 ton car will be operated between the machinery and the rock pile.

GRAND JURY FILES REPORT

It Recommends General Repairs at County Hospital

Jackson Nov. 8, 1909.
The grand jury was called to order this day by the Hon. Fred V. Wood, Judge of the superior court of Amador county, Cal.

Geo. Woolsey was appointed foreman and Geo. Murphy secretary.

The district attorney and sheriff were called before the grand jury and inquiries made in reference to indictments etc.

The following jurors were appointed on the different committees, to visit the clerk and recorder's office:

William Fithian, Jake Newman, A. F. Garibaldi, W. H. Lessley and V. Chichizola.

To visit the hospital: E. D. Boydston, N. Henry, J. H. Langhorst and John A. Phipps.

To visit the jail: Geo. L. Thomas, Joseph Kidd, P. J. Sheridan, Geo. P. Murphy and Andrew Perovich.

To visit the treasurer's office: R. W. Barnett, Robert Ellis, E. D. Barney, Geo. Woolsey and P. I. Jonas.

The foregoing committees having brought in their reports, we respectfully submit the following report:

It has been brought to the notice of the grand jury that some of the bills which have been passed on by the supervisors in the past, have not been itemized or specified as required by law, and we find a difference in the price of labor on the same kind of work, and we would recommend a uniform scale of wages to be paid throughout the different districts and there should be eight, (8) hours of actual work done.

And it has been brought to the notice of the grand jury that the money spent on the Silver Lake road has brought poor returns; we recommended that an itemized account in future be brought in before the money is paid for this work.

We recommend that the books of the county be experted at the end of each official term, and that a professional expert from abroad be employed, and that a limited term be agreed upon in which to do the work.

We have visited the county hospital in a body; we find the buildings and sewer system in a deplorable condition, and the supervisors should likewise visit it and see that the needed improvements are made, for in its present condition it is a reflection on the county.

A great deal of work has been done by this grand jury, in inquiries as to county matters, but no results have been obtained which we feel necessary to embody in this report.

Respectfully submitted,
Geo. Woolsey,
Foreman

Geo. P. Murphy,
Secretary.

Following is a list of the grand jury: Wm. C. Fithian, Jacob Newman, A. L. Garibaldi, W. H. Lessley, V. J. Chichizola, E. D. Boydston, O. M. Henry, J. H. Langhorst, J. A. Phipps, G. L. Thomas, P. J. Sheridan, Geo. P. Murphy, Andrew Perovich, R. W. Barnett, Robert Ellis, E. D. Barney, Geo. Woolsey, P. I. Jonas, Joseph Kidd.

Crushed to Death

The Ledger is in receipt of a dispatch saying that Edward Dennis, a young man, and son of Mrs M. C. Clark, of Drytown, and a brother of Mrs Ira Plunkett of Lone, was killed at Sparks, Nevada, while engaged in his work of coupling cars for the Southern Pacific Company. Particulars of the sad accident are not at hand. It is probable, however, that he was caught between two cars, and thereby lost his life. The body was forwarded yesterday to his relatives in Drytown, and the funeral will take place there to-morrow afternoon.

Miner Falls 50 Feet

Thomas Kell, a miner employed at the Kennedy mine, met with a serious accident about 1 a. m. last Monday night. Kell, who is practically a new man in the mine, was working on the 2800 level, and was going to another section of the drift, when his tallow candle became extinguished, and he was obliged to group his way in the dark. The unfortunate man suddenly plunged down a 50 foot chute, his abdomen striking a set of timbers and he was hurled backward into a pile of rock.

The injured man was immediately sent to the surface, and from there to his place of residence at the Rugne boarding house.

Dr Gall was summoned, and says his patient was suffering from internal injuries.

Pleaded Guilty of Petty Larceny

George Braghero, the slick one who succeeded in passing confederate paper money upon a saloonkeeper at New Chicago, appeared before the superior court Wednesday, and a plea of guilty of petty larceny was accepted by the district attorney, it being deemed doubtful whether the felony charge would hold. He was sentenced to 15 days in the county jail. It is reported that the man is wanted in San Francisco for other crimes of a like character, and that at the end of his term here he will be turned over to the authorities in the city. Under the law a second conviction of petty larceny is punishable as a felony.

Unclaimed Letters.

Letters remaining unclaimed in the Jackson, Cal. post office, for the week ending April 29th:

Peter Ardisson, Bessie Carlton, Abdalla Joseph, Miss May Mitchell, John Martin, Fred Walters.

Jim Davis Gets Promotion

James Davis, who has been foreman at this mine, has been appointed superintendent. He has had years of experience in mining on the mother lode, and is every way qualified to assume charge of surface and underground workings.

Following is a list of the grand jurors selected by the judge of the superior court for the current year from which the grand jury of 1910 will be drawn:

M. Amick, Adrian Frederick, Theodore Gebhardt, John L. Lucas, Harry Stewart, William Scully, George Winter, A. B. McLaughlin, Joseph J. Pigeon, Emanuel Santirio, William E. Smith, Chas A. Stirnman, Claude Wilson, Morris Brinn, Edw. M. Culbert, Thomas A. Chichizola, John S. Davis, William H. Gunsolus, John Lithgow, Dennis E. Madden, George H. Brown, Lewis G. Griffith, Henry Greilich, Frank S. McCulloh, Mois Rooose, George A. Upton.

A Timely Rain

A most timely rain set in Wednesday evening, and continued at intervals through the night. The total downpour in Jackson measured .31 of an inch. It was not a heavy fall, but nevertheless it was enough to do an incalculable amount of good. The crops, both natural and sown will be much improved. The quantity of grass hay cut is small, and even that which was down would suffer little damage from the wetting. In some places the crops were needing moisture badly. Farmers are rejoicing both in the valleys and foothills, and everything promises a harvest such as has not been known for many years.

MINE NEWS ALONG LODGE

Interesting Accounts of Mines Located In Amador Co.

Kennedy Extension

The litigation of the Kennedy Extension Company vs Argonaut Company, for damages for alleged trespass by the latter company, drags along slowly. The Argonaut company is anxious to bring the case to trial as speedily as possible. Edward Lynch, the attorney for the Kennedy Extension, has been here for over a week, looking after that side of the issue. Other attorneys appear of record for the plaintiff corporation, but he is the only one that has figured in the actual work on that side so far.

There seems to be all sorts of rumors afloat touching this mining dispute, and as result, misleading impressions prevail concerning the developments in the Kennedy Extension workings. Reports have been circulated that the ore body has been encountered at different points within this claim by drifts and crosscuts. This would be apt to convey the idea of a well-defined ledge, cut at several places and indicating an ore shoot of considerable size.

From a trustworthy source we are able to state the developments in the Kennedy Extension ground are about as follows:

The preceding company, when the claim was known as the Muldoon or Amelia mine, sunk an incline shaft to the depth of 800 feet. A short drift south was run at this depth, whether by the old or the new company we are not informed. The claim was idle for eight or nine years, until the company under the name of the Kennedy Extension took hold.

The company after reopening the shaft to its entire depth started a crosscut east from the extremity of the short south drift. This has been run a total distance of 400 feet. At 300 feet some quartz appears. It has not been drifted upon at all beyond the lines of the crosscut tunnel, and so its size and value is a matter of mere conjecture. Naturally, those directly interested attach much importance to this discovery; on the other hand, persons not so situated might entertain no such opinion of it. In any crosscut run at right angles from the main ledge, in a mineralized formation like the mother lode of Amador county, it is almost inevitable that bodies of quartz will be encountered be this surely does not mean the finding of a mine. It often is nothing more than a detached bunch, or a stringer or offshoot from the main body.

It may lead up to an extensive pay shoot. But there are certain well-known characteristics of a defined ore chamber that must be present to the practical miner, before much importance can be placed upon the mere existence of even gold-bearing rock.

In the crosscut east through the Kennedy Extension territory, the cutting of quartz at several points in its course of 400 feet would indicate not one extensive deposit, but so many independent ledges, offshoots, or bunches.

West of the shaft, or toward the Argonaut property, no development work has been done.

South Eureka.

The Ledger takes pleasure in correcting a story printed in the previous issue concerning the accident of the South Eureka mine. The mine superintendent, Mr Small, informs us that the entire story is fictitious, and that no such event occurred.

We learn from reliable source how the story was started and circulated, that set Jackson astir, and found its way into the Sacramento and San Francisco papers, even before we published it.

It seems that after the night shift came off watch, several of the miners assembled at a nearby saloon, and over indulged in joy water. They loitered around until late in the morning before starting for their homes, near the Jackson Gate. On their homeward journey, they were met by other miners of the day shift going to their work, among them, a cornishman, who just arrived in this section of the county. The day shift miners of course inquired of their comrades, why they were so late in getting home, hereupon the tipsie brained fellows answered that the rope broke while hoisting the skip at the 10 hundred level, and they were compelled to climb out the shaft. The poor cornishman, not accustomed to sober lying, hurried to Jackson and astounded everyone with his tale of the miracolous escape of a skip load of miners.

Treasure

The new hoisting and pumping machinery is on the ground, and workmen are getting it in position as fast as possible. The new outfit includes a powerful engine, pump, and other things equal to carry the shaft 1000 feet below its present depth, which is 500 feet. The owners of the property are sanguine that a good paying property will be developed. This opinion is favored not alone by the fact that a bullion producer is running on either side—the Bunker Hill on the north and Fremont on the south—but also by actual developments within the limits of their own claim.

BALL GAME IS ENJOYED

Jackson Defeated Sutter Creek by a Score of 14 to 10

Jackson won her second game of the season by a good margin, defeating Sutter Creek to the tune of 13 to 10.

The game was snappy and well worth seeing. Skelley, who was taking care of third base, played a finished game, and the Sunshine Kid from Montana, will no doubt be an idol of the Jackson nine for the remainder of the season.

Fortner had a tryout back of the bat, and with the exception of a wild throw to the first base at a critical stage of the game, proved himself a good candidate for the permanent position of catcher.

Cromer is a star at first, and by two clever foils or blind tricks put out 2 men on his base. Myers, who pitched the first four innings, showed up in good style. Unfortunately this young pitcher had a badly sprained arm, and was compelled to withdraw from the game at the end of the 4th inning. Myers came here from Santa Cruz with a clean record as a twirler, and his exhibition Sunday last proved he is not to be trifled with. Thus far, he has had rather poor support from his catcher, which means considerable to a pitcher. Fortner will no doubt team up great with him in a few games if they are allowed to work together. Ardito, Jackson's old standby, relieved Myers, and showed his fans that he still has a good bunch of strikeouts up his sleeve. The old pitcher throws a good drop ball, which tricked his batsmen to a strike whenever it was pitched.

GRAND JURY REPORT.

The grand jury report, which is published in another column, is one of the most sensible documents of that character that has been presented to the people of Amador county for many years. It must be borne in mind that it is the final report of the grand jury of 1909. This body was impanelled in November of last year, and after being in session a few days it adjourned to meet again at the call of the chairman. The expert appointed to examine the books of county officials had been at work on his long-drawn-out task for over ten months and there was no prospect of a speedy termination of his labors at that time. It was probably this aspect of the experting business that had much to do with the determination of the jury to hold over into the present year. There was a growing restlessness throughout the county on account of the prolongation of the expert's task, and the bill that was being piled up against the taxpayers as the result thereof. The members of the grand jury did not feel like disbanding until the official expert had completed his task. The temporary adjournment of the jury might be interpreted as a broad hint to the expert to make haste with the finishing touches. That is the construction we place upon their action. As soon as the expert's report was made the grand jury was reassembled and quickly disposed of its unfinished business.

The report is brief but to the point. It touches upon few subjects, but on those matters it speaks in no uncertain tones. It is really more noticeable for what it does not say, than for what it says. There is a total absence of the passing of boquets to public officials in the shape of thanks for courtesies shown, or compliment for duties performed, which things have usually constituted a nauseating feature of such reports, and which tended to neutralize even commendable features. Public servants are elected to discharge certain duties. It is not the province of a jury to eulogise them for attending to their duties, whether this is done for political effect or from motives of personal flattery. An official is presumed to do his duty. If he fails in this regard, it then becomes the business of the grand jury to so state. It is a relief to know that the puffing feature has been cut out, no matter what influences have contributed to bring about that result.

The weakness of the so-called Lincoln-Roosevelt league consists not in its platform of principles, for no true republican will take exception to that, but in its methods. Actions are louder-voiced than words, and where the two forces are in seeming conflict, the latter will be taken as the true index of the situation. The league candidates represent a faction fighting to down the other party candidates, rather than for the success of the party itself. A campaign of abuse and a tendency to help democrats in preference to republicans who are not of their faction, are not drawing features with the masses of fair-minded republicans. The Lincoln-Roosevelt league looks very much like a democratic sideshow, conducted in conformity with the rule-or-ruin policy. We have nothing to say against the candidates personally. But the movement has too much of the anything-to-beat our party rivals in it to suit us.

Jackson has been suddenly transformed from the most wide-open town, to a closed town, so far as illegal forms of gambling are concerned. With many persons the spirit of gambling is invincible. The root of the evil is beyond the reach of law; it involves the moral and mental make-up of the individual. The propensity will find vent in spite of all legal enactments to suppress it. But even so, this is no reason why such forms of gambling as are expressly prohibited by law should be permitted to run in open defiance of the authorities. Now that the lid has been put on, whether the outcome be favorable to general business or otherwise, we hope it will be kept on. Jackson's prosperity is not dependent upon the gambling fraternity. An influx of this class is an evidence, rather than the cause, of prosperity. They are not factors to be taken into consideration in the upbuilding of any community.

COUNTRY Vs. CITY

Yes, it's lively in the city, where they've got their 'lectric lights, And the people soon have wrinkles from their stayin' out o' nights; They've got shows and things to keep 'em from a-gettin' lonesome there, And they look all-fired stylish in the costly clo's they wear, But I guess they have their troubles just the same as me and you, And I reckon that they're often ruther worse'n ours, too.

We've got wood piled in the woodshed that'll last a year or so, And there's more out where that come from and more saplin's still to grow; We ain't worried over coal strikes, let the cold winds blow away, We can carry in the billets and not have a cent to pay; While they're shiverin' up yonder where they're got so much to see, We can heat up fer the babies, that the Lord sent you and me.

There is always somethin' doin' to make city people sad; If it ain't a sausage famine, why, you'll hear the water's bad; When the strikers stop the street cars, then the mischief is to pay, And the people have to foot it, gittin' clubbed along the way; And the fever epidemic and the small-pox every year Keep the city people stewin', and I'm glad to live out here.

Oh, it's quiet in the country, and there's few uncommon sights, And God's moon and 'stars up yonder have to do fer 'lectric lights; But with 'taters in the cellar and with wood piled in the shed, When ther's hay stacked in the hay-mows for the stock that must be fed; They can have their noisy city, with the sights up there to see, And the kind old quiet country will be good enough for me.

THE ANTARCTIC CONTINENT

A Valuable Territory

Charcot, a French explorer, fancies that he has demonstrated the existence of a great Antarctic continent. He returns to Punta Arenas, on the Straits of Magellan, with specimens, faunal, floral, mineral, vegetable—valuable scientific collections which may show the existence of undeveloped wealth upon the new continent.

The Frenchman's exploration is not an exploit like Peary's penetration to the pole, but is more valuable to mankind; indeed, it is serious business, not a mere amazing feat.

Peary could bring back only ice and salt water from that point in a waste of frozen sea which he reached, and to believe that he reached the geographical point we have only his word and circumstantial evidence. But Charcot brings back from the solid land he has been exploring new species of animals and plants, also rocks and ores. He is a real explorer, in the sense that Stanley was an explorer.

Nor is his work simply of scientific interest. The Antarctic continent which appears not to be surmounted with a gigantic ice cap, as in Greenland, may prove of worth to mankind. Some of the richest Scandinavian mines lie north of the Arctic circle. The Arctic fisheries of Russia and Siberia increase in importance. There may be coal, iron, copper, gold, what not in the Antarctic continent, which some day will cause towns to spring up upon its interior.

Man has conquered the temperate zones, and modern medical science is enabling the white man to subdue the tropics, as modern inventions are enabling him to endure the frigid zones. A new field for mankind's effort and partial occupation is quite likely to be found in the mainland lying south of Tasmania, south of Cape Horn, South of Kerguelen, even under that mysterious curtain which Edgar Poe imagined in his celebrated adventure of Gordon Pym.—From the Minneapolis Journal.

How Attraction Acts.

Attraction acts very curiously. Thus if there were a man in the moon and if he were like the men on the earth he would be able to leap over a three storied house with as much ease as an ordinary jumper springs over a three foot fence in consequence of the forces of attraction being much less at the moon's surface than at the earth's. An elephant there would be as light footed as the deer here. A boy throwing stones might easily land them in an adjoining county. On the other hand, the reverse of all this would happen in Jupiter or Saturn. They being so much greater than the earth, their attraction would so impede locomotion that a man would scarcely be able to crawl, and large animals would be crushed by their own weight.

In the Land of Windmills.

The Dutch when they invite you, and they are not a guest seeking race, are extremely hospitable and make you at once welcome. Sometimes, however, when it comes to dinner, their active hospitality demands an energetic recognition. The table is laid with piles of plates before each chair. On your first visit the spoons and forks are heavy silver, the knives of the finest steel and ivory. You never, however, eat with them again. When you have been shown that a family possesses them that ends it. You eat thereafter from everyday ware.

"What would the silver be like for our descendants if we used it often?" an old lady asked me. "What would we have if our ancestors had been careless?"—Eva Madden in Harper's Bazar.

A Curiosity In Boundaries.

About 600 yards from the station at Herseaux, at the crossroads from Oudeauarde to Roubaix, on the way from Tournai to Monseton, there is a directing post which from a topographical point of view is a curiosity. This post marks the separation between the two countries, France and Belgium; three provinces or departments, Le Nord, western Flanders and Hainault; three bishoprics, Cambrai, Burges and Tournai. Three races dwell around it, speaking three languages, French, Flemish and Wallon. It is also in three communes, Wattrelos, Herseaux and Estaimpuis.—London Globe.

The Only Way to Know.

Catherine had asked so many questions, and father was growing impatient. Finally he said, "Oh, Catherine, I can't answer half your questions." "I know you can't, father, but then I do not know which half you can't answer."—Delineator.

Neither Polite Nor Wise.

WATERLESS BATHING.

A Good Rub and an Air Bath a Substitute For the Tub.

The conditions and conventions of our civilization demand frequent bathing. It is popularly supposed that this frequent bathing is essential to health. "This is quite untrue," says the Medical Journal. "We have seen fine and vigorous men among the habitants of Canada who had never taken a full bath in their lives. Were the truth known, many thousands of our fellow citizens probably know nothing of the alleged benefits of the tub, though maintaining excellent average health. "Such people do not present the fresh and pleasing appearance of the frequent bather, however long lived they may be. Is not, however, much of the benefit attributed to the water in reality due to the complete exposure of the skin to the air?"

"The respiratory function of the skin is of high importance, and, although water may be dispensed with, closing the pores to air would result in speedy asphyxiation. The historic instance of the boy who impersonated John the Baptist in a mediaeval procession and whose body was covered with gold leaf with rapidly fatal results is proof.

"The ice cold bath is a superstition; it is a pastime for the abnormally vigorous, not desirable for the average civilized man. A bath not too cold is really an agreeable stimulant as well as being a luxury. The feeling of well being after a bath can hardly be obtained in any other way, and the rapid multiplication of tubs in hotels and private residences, soon to approach one to the individual, shows how they are appreciated.

"Unhappy persons, however, whose travels in the provinces or into the desert may temporarily deprive them of sufficient water for bathing may find a substitute that will at least afford a part of their accustomed enjoyment. The body may be energetically rubbed with a brush or coarse Turkish towel and afterward exposed to the air for fifteen minutes or so. The accustomed feeling of vigor will follow and the process will be found by the uninitiated to be astonishingly cleansing."

A STRANGE TRIBE.

The Touaregs, to Whom Timbuktu Owes Its Origin.

A recent explorer, journeying from Tripoli across the great desert of Sahara, gives account of much opposition to his progress offered by the various wandering tribes. Much of the most serious trouble was caused by the Touaregs, a strange band of people, supposed by some to have descended from the crusaders. These dwellers of the desert are distinguished by the wearing of veils, a custom which has caused much discussion. Says Felix Dubois in "Timbuktu the Mysterious":

As you travel an atmosphere of secrecy hovers over the country, and you remember that these mysterious Touaregs are still momentarily its oppressors and masters.

These people keep their eyes from the excessive glow of the desert by two veils, one rolled round the temples and falling down in front, the other reaching from the nostrils to the edge of the clothing, covering the lower part of the face. Savants seek all manner of farfetched origins to explain this custom. Hygiene is obviously the only motive. This is proved by their own statements and by the sobriquet, "mouths for flies," which they give to all who do not wear the veils.

These veils are never removed, even at mealtimes. They are so such a part of their wearers that any one deprived of such covering is unrecognized by his friends and relatives. If a number of the tribe should be killed in battle, no one could identify them if they had not on their veils.

Theft is the Touareg's natural form of industry. "This word," says a native proverb, "is like water fallen upon sand, never to be found again." The Sudanese term them as "thieves, hyenas and abandoned of God." Yet to this strange tribe Timbuktu owes its origin.

The Force of Habit.

One of the campers had done something peculiarly idiotic, and the dean said, "Dick reminds me of Thomas' colt."

"What about Thomas' colt?" asked Dick cheerfully.

"Why," the dean responded readily, "where I lived in Maine when I was a boy an old man named Thomas raised horses. He once put out to pasture a colt which had been fed from its birth in a box stall and watered at the trough in the yard.

"The pasture lay across a small river, and in the middle of the day the colt swam the stream to go up to the barnyard for a drink of water."

English as Spoken in London.

I must confess in passing that after a lifetime spent upon English I had nearly as much difficulty with that language "as she is spoke" upon the streets of London by the common people as I had with French and German in Paris and Berlin. The most popular sensational journal of London is the Daily Mail. They call it the Dilly Mille. Many other words are equally unrecognizable.—London Letter to Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Breathing of Insects.

Insects generally breathe through special pores in various parts of their bodies, and if these pores are closed by oil they are suffocated. Any one may test this by dropping sweet oil on the thorax or back of a wasp. It very soon dies. For this reason oil has been found one of the best things to use for the destruction of insects.

The mosquitoes of India have great fun with the bicyclists. They not only lance the riders, but actually puncture the bicycle tires.

Flat Noses Considered Beautiful.

In ancient Persia an aquiline nose was often thought worthy of the crown, but the Sumatran mother carefully flattens the nose of her daughter. Among some of the savage tribes continual pressure is applied to the skull in order to flatten it and thus give it a new beauty.

McGEE Vs. BERGAVIN

Full Text of Court Decision
In Favor of Plaintiff

In the superior court of the state of California, in and for the county of Amador.

Wm. J. McGee, plaintiff, vs. A. M. Bergevin, defendant.

This is an appeal from the Justice's court of township one. The appeal having been taken on questions of both law and fact a trial de novo was had in this court.

Plaintiff seeks to recover from the defendant the sum of $250, with interest from June 20, 1908.

There was a conflict of evidence in some particulars at the trial, but by a fair preponderance the following facts were established:

Defendant solicited plaintiff, while at breakfast at the Cosmos club at San Francisco, on the 26th day of April, 1907, to become the purchaser of 200 shares of the capital stock of Pittsburg Silver Peak, a mining corporation, then selling for the sum of $2 per share at the same time stating that he could guarantee that the stock would be worth $5.00 per share by Jan. 1st. following, and that he would put up his check for $500 to secure plaintiff, if plaintiff would put up his own check for a like amount to be paid to defendant, if the stock became worth that sum on Jan. 1st.

Needless to state this tempting offer which assured to plaintiff a profit of $100, within a few months, upon an investment of $400 was readily accepted by plaintiff, and each party deposited a check for $500 with the secretary of the club, subject to the terms proposed.

The check deposited by defendant however, was not his individual check, but was the check of A. M. Bergevin & Co., upon the California Safe Deposit & Trust Company, a bank of San Francisco, which prior to the first day of January following failed, but plaintiff had no knowledge that the check deposited by defendant was other than the individual check of defendant until after the failure of the bank. Plaintiff in accordance with the agreement of the parties procured from a broker 200 shares of Pittsburg Silver Peak at the outlay of $400; This stock failed to soar to $5 by January following, but on the contrary appears to have depreciated in value to 90 cents per share, for which amount per share, it was subsequently disposed of. Plaintiff having declined to accept the worthless check of Bergevin & Co., in February following secured an agreement from the defendant whereby the latter promised to pay to plaintiff the sum of $500 at Jackson in this county, upon the condition that plaintiff should deliver to defendant a six months' option upon the Pittsburg Silver Peak stock at $1.40 per share, as Bergevin still professed to be inspired with the hope that it would soon reach the quotation of $5. Thereafter defendant made payments on account aggregating $250, and it was then agreed that defendant might pay the balance of $250, or deliver to plaintiff 1600 shares of the capital stock of the Kewanaw Co. He failed to do either, hence this action.

Defendant's contention is that the agreement between the parties is a mere bet or wager, hence void, while it is plaintiff's claim that it is not a wager, and even so, he is entitled to recover upon the subsequent agreement made in the month of February, as being a new, separate and lawful transaction.

The term wager is not to be confused with that of mere speculation, risk or hazard. It is often defined in the books "as a contract in which the parties stipulate that they shall gain or lose upon the happening of an uncertain event in which they have no interest except that arising from the possibility of such gain or loss."

The principle as to what interest is required to eliminate the unlawful wagering features from a contract is illustrated in the South Carolina case of Ferguson vs Coleman, 45 Am. Dec. 761, where a vendee promised to pay $500 for a tract of land, or if cotton should rise to 8 cents by a certain time, then the price should be $902. It was held that the agreement was not a wager upon the price of cotton, but a lawful contract based upon the enhanced value of the land by the increased value of its product.

Had the agreement between McGee and Bergevin made no provision for the purchase of the 200 shares of stock, it would have been a prohibited wagering transaction, but by the purchase of this stock by McGee, he thereby became peculiarly interested in the increase in its value. Under this agreement plaintiff in every event was to make a profit. If the stock reached a certain value defendant also was to make a profit. Defendant alone stood to lose by the transaction, but his liability for any loss was not by reason of any wagering features in the contract, but solely because of his voluntary and unsolicited promise as to the future value of the stock, upon the faith of which the plaintiff McGee participated.

DONT HIDE YOUR MONEY

The man who hides his money because he assumes to be afraid of banks forgets that it was the bank that perhaps made the prosperity possible which gave him his money making opportunities. Without the bank there would be no large commercial or business enterprises possible, salaries and wages would be low, and money making impossible. It is the bank in the exercise of its function in gathering together the funds of a community and putting them into active use that has brought prosperity.

To hide money is to hinder and hurt prosperity by restricting the circulation of money. Bring your money to the bank.

SUMMER SESSION AT UNIVERSITY.

For the information of schoolteachers and others interested, we are requested by the authorities of the California University at Berkeley, to state that it is planned to make the coming summer session of this institution 'the most interesting and profitable ever held. No examination is required for admission. Any person giving evidence of sufficient maturity to be profited by the course is admitted. The charge for the session is $15, without regard to the number of courses taken. This fee entitles the student to the full privileges of the library, and to medical advice and hospital care without extra care in case of illness. Schoolteachers and persons engaged in various other professions have been taking advantage of this brief university session, to burnish up in their knowledge and keep pace with up to date methods and ideas. To teachers the course of six weeks' study is specially attractive. It is vacation time with their schools, and the short university term is in the nature of a intellectual recreation, and in no wise injurious to health. Other callings are taking advantage of the session. Last year the attendance represented twenty-five occupations other than teachers.

Died of Miners' Consumption

The many friends and acquaintances of William John Corin will be pained to hear that he succumbed to that dread plague, miners' consumption, last week in San Francisco. Deceased worked in different mines in Amador county, the last being the Fremont near Drytown. Last Christmas, being in poor health, he went to San Francisco to visit his brother Charles Corin, and while there consulted a doctor in regard to his health. After an examination the physician told him not to return to underground work, as the disease so fatal to the miners had made a serious inroad upon his constitution. He therefore remained in the city with his brother's family, and was buried in the cemetery of that city. He was a native of Cornwall, England, aged 46 years.

Ernest Datson left here Saturday to attend the wedding of the brother Joseph, which was scheduled to take place the same day in Sacramento. The groom is well known in Jackson, Plymouth and other parts of the county, having spent many years here.

Chris Marella left early in the week for Auburn, Placer county. It is said his business was to act as interpreter in trial pending in that county.

Alfred Goldner left for San Francisco Wednesday, for a change. He has not been in robust health of late.

Another Pioneer Passes

Our Plymouth Correspondent states that James F. Gregg, one of the pioneers of Amador county, and who lived in this county, chiefly in the northern part, died in Sacramento recently. He was a native of New York, aged 85 years. He was a good citizen in every sense of the word, and a man of considerable ability. He will be remembered as a newspaper writer who attracted attention through the columns of the local papers under the name of "Old Pub." One by one the old timers pass from the scenes of earthly activity.

The Plymouth correspondent of the Amador Record says: Deceased was born in Oneida county, New York, Dec. 25, 1825 of Scotch Irish parents. His earliest American ancestor, Capt. James Gregg, comprised one of the original 16 families who settled at Londonderry, New Hampshire, in the year 1718, on a grant of land originally conferred by Charles II of England. Deceased landed with his young wife in San Francisco in March, 1853, and within three months thereafter too up his abode on Indian creek, about one mile from the present town of Plymouth, and remained a resident of the county until his death. Mr Gregg was liberal, progressive and independent in his civic, social, religious views and standards. He gave his adhesion to public measures and policies because of their merit rather than because they happened to be popular. He believed that men were made free through a perception and acceptance of the truth and the rejection of error, no matter how venerable the latter had become by long tolerance, holding with the poet Lowell, that "They are slaves who dare not be, in the right with two or three." Mr Gregg leaves three brothers and a sister living the average of whose ages is now 78 years. An aged widow, his life companion for 57 years, eight children, nine grandchildren, and one great-grandchild survive his decease. The funeral services and interment took place at Plymouth, April 22nd, 1910, conducted by W. Axford. H. E. Potter had charge.

E. Marucci and G. Leverone, tied scores in the Jackson shooting gallery for last week's prize, a 32 Special Winchester rifle. Each had a perfect score of 30 points out of a possible 30. At the final shoot off, Leverone defeated Marucci 28 to 27 points.

Marucci is a splendid shot, having carried off the 3 first prizes offered by the gallery, which were high grade heavy hitting guns.

Candidates Make Announcements

The political announcements of U. S. Gregory, present incumbent of the sheriff's office, Geo. A. Gritton, present county treasurer, and Clarence Jarvis, county assessor, will be found under the head of Political Announcements in this issue. All are candidates for renomination for their respective offices, subject to the decision of the democratic primary election to be held August 16.

Jackson baseball team will play at Sutter Creek Sunday next, May 1, and a good game is promised. The team will be conveyed to Sutter Creek in a large auto, leaving Jackson at 1:30 p. m.

The very fact that Jackson gave her neighboring team a trouncing last Sunday means that Sutter Creek will work hard to keep from taking another dose of bad medicine on her own grounds, and if the weather is favorable, we predict a large crowd of Jackson fans will journey to the fair little village of Sutter Creek and cheer their boys on to victory again.

Impossible to be Well

It is impossible to be well, simply impossible, if the bowels are constipated. You must pay attention to the laws of nature, or suffer the consequences. Undigested material, waste products, poisonous substances, must be removed from the body at least once each day, or there will be trouble. A sluggish liver is responsible for an immense amount of suffering and serious disease. Ask your doctor about Ayer's Pills. He knows why they act directly on the liver. Trust him. J. C. Birkel Company vs. Marsh, second appellate dist. decided February 15, 1910

It is also settled law of this state that where a contract is had in part for being in violation of law, but good in part, and the good part can be separated, that, which is good will be enforced

City Carpet Works, vs. Jones 102 Cal. 567.

Porter vs. Fisher, 34 Pac. 700.

McVicker vs. McKenzie, 136 Cal. 66.

There is also another principle of law to be kept in view in ascertaining the validity of the different parts of the agreement made between plaintiff and defendant, and that is, that for the breach of an obligation arising from contract, the measure of damages is the amount which will compensate the party for all the detriment proximately caused thereby, and any contract providing for a greater amount is to that extent void, except where from the nature of the case it is impracticable or extremely difficult to fix the actual damage.

Civil Code, sections 1670, 1671, and 3300.

Wilmington Transportation Co. vs. O'Neil, 98 Cal. 1.

Long Beach District vs. Dodge, 135 Cal. 401.

The agreement between plaintiff and defendant amounted to no more than this: McGee agreed to purchase 200 shares of stock for $400, and in the event that it reached a valuation of $1000 by January 1st following he obligated himself to pay $500 to Bergevin, while Bergevin on his part, promised that said stock would be worth $1000 at that time. It seems apparent that as McGee was to pay Bergevin $500 when the stock reached a value of $1000; that McGee could suffer no detriment for the breach of the obligation, if the stock reached a valuation of $500. By no possible construction of the agreement could McGee receive the whole of the $500 deposited by Bergevin, if the stock reached a valuation of more than $500. If McGee had agreed to pay Bergevin the value of the stock in excess of $500 instead of $500, if it reached the valuation of $1000, no argument could be advanced as to the invalidity of the whole agreement. By placing a construction upon the agreement that shall make Bergevin liable only if the stock fails to reach a valuation of $500 the real intent of the parties seems to be carried out and Bergevin is given the full benefit of all the uncertainty in the agreement and of everything that he might by any possibility have claimed under the contract, in any contingency. Bergevin by his own voluntary act induced plaintiff to purchase the stock upon the assurance that the latter was to receive a profit of $100 upon his investment of $400, somewhat large it is true, but nevertheless lawful. It appears from the evidence given in this court that by reason of the disposal of the stock at 90 cents per share, and the payments aggregating $250, heretofore made to plaintiff, that plaintiff McGee is still short $70 of his lawful profit. It is unnecessary to enter into any speculation as to the motives that induced Bergevin to make the agreement. His position is no different than that of one, who, by his promise to hereafter pay for the same, induces a merchant to deliver goods to a third party.

Defendant's claim that plaintiff must look for payment exclusively to the check for $500 drawn upon the bank that subsequently failed, merits but little attention, as in violation of the agreement and without notice to plaintiff, he deposited with the secretary of the club the check of A. M. Bergevin & Co. instead of his own individual check.

As herefore pointed out any claim made by plaintiff for a sum in excess of the amount that will compensate him for all the detriment proximately caused by the breach of defendant's obligation is to that extent illegal and void. There was no consideration to support the agreement made in February to pay plaintiff $250 when he was lawfully entitled to but $70. Repeating a void promise cannot give it validity. See volume 9 Cyclopaedia of Law and Procedure, page 56, where some 40 cases from different appellate courts are cited by Professor Lawson in support of the text.

Also Union Collection Co. vs. Buckman, 150 Cal. 159.

Nor can the agreement made in February to pay a sum in excess of $70 be sustained as a compromise of a doubtful claim, as a compromise implies a mutual concession, and there was no concession whatever made by plaintiff, furthermore it appears that the real object of the agreement of February, was to make provision for the payment of the amount of the check drawn upon the bank that had failed.

Plaintiff also seeks to maintain the validity to the full extent of this agreement of February, because as part of the consideration he executed to Bergevin a six months option to sell to him the stock at $1.40 per share, but this contention is disposed of by section 26 of art IV of the Constitution of this state, which prior to November 1908, read "All contracts for the sale of shares of the capital stock of any corporation or association, on margin or to be delivered at a future day shall be void."

For the foregoing reasons plaintiff is entitled to judgment for $70 and costs.

Dated April 25, 1910.

FRED V. WOOD,

Judge.

Proves Worthy of Probation

Clarence Walker, the first defendant, allowed to go on probation, by order of the superior court of this county, is strictly abiding by the terms of his probation. He has worked steadily in the Kennedy mine since the court order was made. Not only has he paid out of his earnings the costs incurred by the prosecution in his case, but also paid the price of the steer killed to the owner thereof. Besides this he has accumulated a reserve in the bank. The first experience in the application of the probation law has certainly worked charmingly, both from a moral and financial viewpoint.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES

News of Interest from Near-by Counties

It is reported that R. C. Downs has purchased a $3,500 auto which is due to arrive about the first of the month.—Echo.

Sam Hawkins has resigned his position at the Preston school and has taken charge of the Peerless livery stable for D. McCall.—Echo.

Mr Jones, consulting engineer for the Mountain Copper company, has been in lone for a few days, looking over the prospects for copper in this vicinity. The prospects are good for copper boom here before long.—Echo.

James Parkison, for many years a resident of lone and vicinity, died at his residence in San Jose on Monday, and the remains were brought to lone for interment Thursday. Mrs Parkison accompanied the remains and is the guest of Mrs W. D. Amick. Mr Parkison was very well known here, and highly respected. This is the second time within a year that Mrs Parkison has visited lone on the same sad errand.—Echo.

English sparrows are doing considerable damage to vegetable gardens in this vicinity. The birds were brought here to destroy a pest, but are now a greater pest than the moth they destroyed. Several counties have put a bounty of a cent each on the birds, and in this manner their destruction is being encompassed. They multiply rapidly, and soon after descending on a garden leave no trace of the small leaves just shooting up from the ground.—Jamestown Magnet.

Richards of Angels gave a show here Wednesday evening. There was a show at the hotel about 11 o'clock the same night, when Miss Sadie Schultz rushed into her room at the hotel and spied the two dummies placed there by practical jokes during her absence. The dummies were cleverly constructed and while one reclined peacefully upon the bed, the other stood guard at the foot of the bed in so natural a position that after one glance the young lady gave such unearthly screams as she ran that everyone in the hotel rushed into the corridors and to the room. The young lady was dreadfully frightened, but did not collapse, and when the cause of the alarm was investigated and the young lady fully recovered, all enjoyed the joke. Two of our girls who did not attend the show were the guilty parties. It was lots of fun of course, but it might have been serious.—Record

Hon. C. H. Dunton delivered an instructive and entertaining lecture at the Methodist church in this city Saturday night upon the subject, "Juvenile Crime and Juvenile Reformation as seen from the Inside." As superintendent of the Preston school of industry, and also as a member of the board of trustees of that institution a dozen years or more, Mr Dunton has had exceptional opportunities for familiarizing himself with his subject, and being an apt scholar and a good speaker, he was thoroughly equipped to entertain an audience in any wise interested in the youth of our state. Those who heard the talk are loud in their praise of the manner in which Mr Dunton acquitted himself.—Nugget.

Ex-supervisor John Mitchell of Oakland, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for member of the state board of equalization, from this district, is now out making an active campaign for the purpose of securing the nomination. The district is comprised of Alameda, Alpine, Amador, Calaveras, Contra Costa, El Dorado, Nevada, Placer, Sacramento, San Joaquin and Tuolumne counties, being the second equalization district. The present incumbent is Alexander Brown, who has been a member of the board for twelve years, and is now president of the body. Mr Mitchell was supervisor of Alameda county for twelve years; he is also actively interested in chamber of commerce and promotion work and is a well-known business man in Oakland.—Prospect.

The most important matter occurring in many months was the voluntary action taken this week in regard to re-adjustment of the water rates, whereby a material reduction has been made by the Sierra & San Francisco Power Company to the users. This reduction is in line with the announced policy of the local manager, J. T. Anderson, who recently informed the municipal authorities that he was engaged in investigation existing conditions with a view of doing what he could to establish a rate that would be at once fair to the people and fair to the company. Through his attitude in the matter, his recommendations have been largely approved by the company and the following changes have been made:

The present established rate of 15 cents per inch has been reduced to 12 1/2 cents, and a special rate of 10 cents per inch for two years is offered those setting out orchards. The rule, heretofore existing, requiring the purchase of at least six inches of water, has been abrogated, and hereafter users can secure water in lesser quantities. The measuring devices or weirs, formerly installed entirely at the customer's expense, can now be placed at about one-quarter of the former cost, the intending water user being privileged to do his own excavating, pay the actual cost of the lumber and the company's agent for the time actually consumed in putting the contrivance in place.—Sonora Democrat.

LOVE'S DOUBTING.

A Phase of Life Through Which Many Married Women Pass.

The only incidents that marred our happiness were sudden and inexplicable "flare ups." Occasionally, to our amazement, a trifle would make us glare at each other like animals and speak bitterly. Five minutes later we would express our regret and shame. Soon I perceived that these quarrels were due to nerves and to the trials of adjustment. One evening we had an argument that was particularly violent and distressing. It ended by Frank's going to bed. I remained in the seat where I had been reading, and for a long time I pretended to myself that I was going on reading. Presently tears fell on my book. Then I said: "How silly all this is! I am making myself suffer, and I am making Frank suffer too. I will go and tell him that I am sorry." So I stole into the bedroom. I was sleeping peacefully.

That little experience, not without humor as I look back on it, made me first realize how differently Frank and I could be affected by the same cause. It marked the beginning of my uneasiness. Soon I stopped reading aloud to Frank: why, I can't remember. Little things disturbed me. At first the thought of them used to be swept away by my delight on seeing Frank in the evening. Then, too, there would come the feeling that those things were accidents and would not occur again. In the second year of our marriage, just after dinner, Frank would read the newspaper till he began to doze. Then he would rouse himself and try to be agreeable. The effort troubled me. There was also the quiet and efficient deciding of little details without reference to my wishes. And here I felt there was danger. Once I said to myself, "Suppose I should tire him," and I grew cold. Then I thought of the moment when I should discover that I was tiring him. Here my sense of humor came to my rescue, and I felt better. I imagine that many women pass through this phase.—American Magazine.

TIME TO LAUGH.

Some Vaudeville Jokelets Which Age Cannot Withier.

Vaudeville is known as the "laugh trust," but not for the reason one might think. It gets the phrase because there are a certain definite number of devices in its category of acts that control the laughs of its audiences. The same old things are always good for a laugh in vaudeville. According to the Bohemian Magazine, a new device, a new bit of "business," a new joke, are all regarded as dangerous by the performers. The following table details some of the times at which a vaudeville audience regularly laughs:

When a comedian walks with a mincing step and speaks in a falsetto voice.

When a German comedian opens his coat and discloses a green waistcoat.

When a comedy acrobat falls down repeatedly.

When a performer asks the orchestra leader if he is a married man.

When a black face comedian says something about chicken.

When a performer starts to rise from a chair and the drummer pulls a resined piece of cord so that the performer thinks his clothes have ripped.

When the drummer suddenly beats the drum during a comedian's song and the latter stops and looks in his direction.

When a tramp comedian turns around and discloses a purple patch or several pearl buttons or a target sewed on the seat of his trousers.

When the funny member of the troupe of instrumentalists interrupts the progress of a melody by sounding a discordant note on his trombone.

When a clown of a team of acrobats poises himself to do a presumably difficult feat and suddenly changes his mind and walks away without doing it.—New York Sun.

The Mind's Power. "Zola," said a psychologist, "once wrote in a lady's album that his favorite amusement was writing and his favorite wish a sudden death. Zola died suddenly.

"And it is a strange thing," said the psychologist, "that those who prefer a sudden death usually have their preference gratified. It is one of those things which go to show the mind's mysterious power. Who knows but it is this very desire for death, quick, painless, undreaded, which actually causes that happy kind of death? The mind, you know, has a power that we have only just begun to understand."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Planning Ahead.

"Theater parties," said the prospective bride, "will cost about $200 annually, flowers as much more and bonbons, say, $100. Certainly we can marry on $600 a year."

"And have a snug surplus," suggested her dad, "for such incidentals as grub and clothes and house rent."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Still Possible.

"Uncle, can't I be a pirate when I grow up?"

"Sure you can, son. What do you want to pirate—books or plays?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Critic. "What do you think of this picture?" "Rotten!" "Why, it was taken from life." "Pity the artist wasn't."—Cleveland Leader.

The trouble isn't with one slandering tongue so much as with a thousand listening ears.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of known composition. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

Street Railway Vacuum Sweeping—The Tails of Comets—The Veterinarian's
Hot Air—The Old Age Antidote—Artificial Daylight—Novel Time Telegraphy—A Restored Prehistoric Horse
—A New Automatic Gas-Lighter—
Welding in Spots.

The vacuum rail-cleaner of the Hanover Street Railway is designed to remove the troublesome collection of dirt that is brushed by sweepers into the grooves of the rails and is there compacted by the wheels of the cars. The apparatus is carried on a special car, fitted with two 25 horse-power motors,
and consists of brushes of steel on each side for loosening the dirt from the rails, with a vacuum pump—driven by an electric motor—that automatically removes the dirt and deposits it in a box in the bottom of the car. Dust in dry weather is avoided by a sprinkler, with two water tanks of 925 gallons each.
An automatic signal tells the motorman
when the dirt box is full, and he then stops the pump, raises the brushes, and takes his load to a dumping place. The car is made to work at any speed up to 17 miles an hour. It uses little power, requires but one man, and readily cleans 45 miles of track a day, removing a cubic yard of dirt or less per mile.
To explain comets' tails, Dr. L.
Zehnder, a German astronomer, extends a theory he first suggested a quarter of a century ago. As the swarm of mete-orites making up the comet approaches the sun, those nearer the sun begin to give out gases and vapors, which form atmospheres about single meteorites or groups of several, and the sun's rays are concentrated by these atmospheres to foci at different distances behind. If a meteorite is in the focus, it may be rendered visible or heated enough to burn any hydrocarbons it may contain. In this way the tail visible lengthens out as the sun is approached, and is always on the side away from the sun.

The pain of rheumatism, as is well known, is lessened by hot air, and at a German animal hospital the hot air treatment has been applied by means of an electric blower originally designed as a hair drier. Dogs with rheumatism, horses with lame shoulders and other suffering animals were relieved by this new pain-soother.

Whatever may be the effect of sour milk in retarding old age, it seems to have certain advantages as a diet, and is quite certainly beneficial in some cases. With advancing years, the microbes always living in the intestines are found to change, becoming more of a kind producing putrefactive decomposition. The studies of Metchnikoff suggested that old age may be due to self-poisoning by the products of this decomposition, and his experiments were thought to prove that lactic acid is the most effective agent for opposing the development of the harmful forms.
Bulgarian sour milk was chosen for introducing the proper organisms into the intestines, as it contains the most powerfully acting of various microbes yielding lactic acid. Sour milk is much used not only in Bulgaria, but in Turkey, Russia, Siberia, India and other countries, and Metchnikoff found confirmation of his theory in the fact that some persons whose diet included little else lived to an advanced age. Prof. T.
R. Hewlett states that somewhat varying methods are adopted for preparing natural and artificial sour milks. The milk must first be sterilized by boiling, and the proper lactic ferments are then introduced, either by adding a little sour milk from a former lot, or by means of pure cultures. Care must be taken to prevent contamination with undesirable organisms. Sour milk is not to be taken indiscriminately, as it sometimes disagrees, but it seems to have proven of undoubted benefit in some old age troubles, including anaemia, flatulent dyspepsia, headache, some constipation and diarrhoea, and rheumatism.

In seeking day light effects with artificial illuminants, H. E. Ives, of the Washington Bureau of Standards, experimented with combinations of mercury vapor lamps with incandescent gas lamps, and with metal filament lamps.
The mercury vapor and metal filament lamps gave the best results. The lamps were arranged in clusters, the metal filaments being in somewhat greater number, and were so placed as to diffuse the light. The effect was very pleasing, the light being soft and steady, with no glare or deep shadows.

A "wink" of the lights is the novel signal by which clocks and watches are set at Durban, South Africa. At 8 o'clock every evening, current from the central station is momentarily switched off, and the response of every electric lamp gives prompt notice of the correct time.

A small, slender-limbed horse roamed over Europe in glacial times, and was hunted and sketched, along with the mammoth, by the Paleolithic dwellers in the British Isles. A curious method of reproducing the ancient animal has been adopted by Prof. J. C. Ewart, the British naturalist. From the fossil remains available he has made a study of the species which he has named Equus agilis, and has attempted to restore it by combining the essential characteristics as found in modern horses. His experiments have included the blending of seven different breeds—Connemara,

Welsh, Hackney, Iceland, Hebridean, Shetland, and Arab. He has succeeded in producing a number of small ponies of slight build, and believes that they restore the horse of glacial times—not only in form, disposition and color, but in details of limbs and teeth. The ponies are yellow-dun in color, active and intelligent.

Spongy platinum, ingiting a mixture of gas and air by catalytic action, has served in automatic gas-lighting, but a new mixture of cerium and iron, giving off sparks on rubbing, is claimed to supply a lighter of improved kind. The peculiar property of this mixture was discovered some years ago by Auervon Welsbach. In the new gas-lighter, a cerium iron pellet is fixed at the end of a brass tube, and this is vigorously rubbed by a slight twisting movement, causing an emission of sparks that ignites the streams of gas. A single pellet is claimed to yield 6,000 flashes, and when one is entirely rubbed away, the lighter is renewed by simply inserting a new pellet.

A kind of electric riveting has recently delveloped, and is claimed to give results unusually much stronger than joining with iron or copper rivets. The process is known as spot welding. The metal plates to be joined are placed in position, and on pressing the electrodes against any desired point, the plates are almost instantly fused and permanently united at that point. The electrodes are moved from place to place, supplying perfect union instead of riveting. The process is rapid, and seems to be satisfactory where water-tight joints are unnecessary.

THROW OUT THE LINE
Give the Kidneys a Chance

Many Jackson people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys
when they know these organs need help.
Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. The following statement leaves no ground for doubt.

J. W. Callahan, 625 L. St., Sacramento, Cal., says: "My back was so weak that I was scarcely able to work.
I could not stoop without experiencing sharp pains through my l ins and I was so lame in the morning on arising that I found it very difficult to put on my clothing. The kidney secretions were so arise several times during the night.
Doan's kidney Pills entirely disposed of my troubles and for that reason have my heartly endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo,

Accused by a Cat.

There was a murder of a woman at Lyons. When the police came and inspected the body, which lay in a pool of blood, one of them drew attention to a large white cat on the top of a cupboard.
The eyes of the cat were fastened on its murdered mistress with an expression of terror. No attempt was made to disturb it, and the cat was still there motionless the next morning. During the day the detectives brought in two suspected persons. They had scarcely entered the room when the cat sprang up, with bristling fur and glaring eyes,
and descending to the floor, began acting in the most astonishing manner.
Both the suspected persons turned pale,
and one of them in a kind of panic tried to strike at it. The cat then disappeared. A short time afterward one of the murderers made a confession in which the cat figured as the only witness of the crime which he and his companion had perpetrated. Both men were executed. This story was authenticated by the late Frederick Myers.—

Deafness Can not be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear
There is only one way to cure deafness
and that is by constitutional remedies.
Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars
or any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's

At JACKSON GAS WORKS

THE CITY ROCK CRUSHING PLANT.

A visit to the rock-crushing plant now in process of construction for the city of Jackson at the dump of the Anita mine is necessary to give a person an approximate idea of the magnitude of the work which has been entered upon for the ostensible purpose of fixing the city streets. A stranger viewing this enterprise would be apt to wonder what it all meant. If told it was erected for the single object of crushing the rock pile in sight for providing macadam to spread over the city streets, he might be surprised at the apparent smallness of the material on hand in comparison with the massive machinery and costly structures built to reduce the rock to regulation size. If disposed to figuring he would perhaps begin to estimate the amount of available material to be passed through the jaws of the rockbreaker to be converted into macadam, and then make a rough estimate of the cost of the crushing outfit, so as to figure out the average cost per ton of the entire dump involved in the constructive works, and before a pound of rock is passed through its maw. This business view would merely take in the preliminary expense, without considering the equally important question of providing the funds to keep the plant running after its completion. For a city like Jackson, whose total revenue for all purposes may be reckoned at from $10,000 to $12,000 per year, the scheme seems out of all proportion to existing conditions. It must be evident to any reasonable mind—assuming for the sake of argument that the quality of macadam is all that could be desired, and the demand for it is unlimited—that the finances of the city must forbid the rock-crushing establishment being kept running for more than a small fraction of the time. Idleness for such an outfit is an item of expense to be reckoned with. Speaking candidly, we fail to see the adaptability of this huge concern to the wants of the city as limited by the finances. We believe there are other long-felt wants of a far more urgent character than this rock-breaking outfit that ought to have had the first right of way. And the money that has been and will be diverted into this plant before it starts upon its spasmodic career of activity, would have made a good start in providing a main sewer—a necessity to supply which led to the incorporation of the city in the first place, and which appears as far from realization to-day as it was in the beginning.

Cupid's Retreat

Dan Cupid has discovered certain charms about the Globe hotel that seem to be agitating him, for in less than a week, he has induced 4 blushing brides and as many grooms to enter the hospitable portals and start their new life on the matrimonial sea of bliss. Charles Green, the popular junior partner of the establishment, led the procession with his charming wife; Philip J. Sheridan and Catherine A. Kern of Lancha Plana came next; Geo. Johnson and Mabel Sorenson of Lone followed; Thomas E. Porteous and Miss Elsie Galt of West Point brought up the rear. Next.

Horse Wrecks Cart

At the ball game last Sunday Ben Fuller was driving a colt that he was breaking to harness. The animal got frightened at an auto, and ran the cart on the bank, capsizing it, and throwing the driver out. The horse kicked himself loose from his trappings, and ran home, leaving the cart in a badly wrecked condition. Fuller fortunately escaped without injury.

Moonlight Auto Ride.

A moonlight auto trip was enjoyed by a crowd of Jackson's young folks on Saturday night. The party consisted of Miss Birdie Lucot, Miss Louise McLaughlin, Miss Hazel Green, Dave Brisco, James Fontenrose and Walter Scott.
